I ll bring the coffee in a moment, dear. Adolph. Never mind the coffee. I m going now. (Crossing over to halltree L.) Vivian (outside). Wait a moment and I ll lock the front door after you. Adolph. No need. I m going out the back gate. (Taking cane and hat from halltree.) I m going out for the day. I shant be back for dinner, and in all probability won t be home till morning. (Aside.) Now for cab number seven. (He exits hurriedly through center door, going R. Vivian enters from door R. 2 E.) Vivian (Peevishly). Won t be home till morning. (Vexed.) Pretty carrying on indeed. Since he has taken to writing novels in his spare moments, he sees nothing but melodrama in the commonest happenings of everyday life, and for the last three days he has been so absorbed in a new plot that...
